- Phone: 1-888-824-2583

Note: This service is available only to HR representatives at groups with 51 or more employees.

Enrollment / Late Entrants / Terminations

New Hires: Applications should be received within 31 days of the effective date. If an employee does not enroll when first eligible, they'll be considered a late entrant. To avoid delays in processing we ask that you please review the application for completion, including date of hire, benefit election/section number, and all pertinent information.

Please double-check Social Security numbers. Incorrect SSNs cause delays and lengthy corrections.

Late Entrants: Employees who miss the 31-day deadline must wait for Open Enrollment or a Qualifying Event to join.

Qualifying Events (QE): Applications must be received within 31 days of the qualifying event date and supporting documentation is required. (example: proof of coverage loss with date and reason)

Eligible Dependents: Spouse, children, and stepchildren (employee must be married to the stepchild's biological parent)

- If adding a spouse because of marriage, we require a copy of the marriage certificate.
- If adding grandchildren, nieces/nephews, we require the permanent custody paperwork.

Terminations: Groups are responsible for submitting employee terminations according to their internal policy. The termination date should be set to either the day after the employee's last workday or the first day of the next month, based on company policy. Use the first day without coverage as the termination date and apply the same approach consistently for all employees. Please send notifications to MemApps@MedMutual.com (or process via the MedMutual Employer Dashboard) within 31 days of the event.

Please allow four business days for all updates. Check the MedMutual Employer Dashboard or My Broker Link to verify changes.

Domestic Partners

Eligible groups may enroll domestic partners upon new hire enrollment or during Open Enrollment.

Paper applications or the domestic partner form are required.

Domestic partners cannot enroll because of loss of coverage or other qualifying outside of open enrollment.

MedMutual Employer Dashboard / ID Cards / Probation Period Change

MedMutual Employer Dashboard: Sign in to the MedMutual Employer Dashboard (MED). On the login page, click "Register" to begin registration. You will need the first six characters of your group number, which can be found on your invoice.

ID Cards: Temporary ID cards are available only after the permanent ID has been created. ID cards are available for download within MyHealthPlan.

Timeline: Temporary ID cards are available within three business days. Physical cards are mailed within seven to 10 business days.

Dependents under 18 will not receive a card in their own name.

Probationary Period Changes: Cannot be applied retroactively. Submit requests to MemApps@MedMutual.com and include the group name and number, the benefits and waiting periods you want to change, and whether the change should also apply to rehire probation periods.

The rehire probation period is applied to members who have previously had group coverage and were rehired within one year of their termination date.

If rehired more than one year later, the new hire probation is applied.

13 Week Rule: Any member rehired within 13 weeks can be made effective on date of rehire, regardless of what the rehire probation period is.

- This is upon request only and only applies to members who were rehired and carried group coverage within the past 13 weeks.
